

Pay of Police And Firemen Increased $250

Chief, a civil service newspaper and social secretary of both the P. B. A. and the U. F. A. said:

"The support of strong newspapers is vital to the success of such a campaign as this. It is no use for us to be right unless we can convince the public that we are right. I have always believed that the taxpayers of New York would favor these increases if only they could be made to understand and appreciate the conditions which confront the men."

Discussion Behind Closed Doors

The Tribune has done an incalculable service in putting these conditions fully before the public. The men appreciate what the Tribune has done for them and will not be slow to show their appreciation."

The discussion yesterday at the committee meeting was held behind closed doors and nothing was issued to the press except the statement of the basis of increases which was finally unanimously accepted. The $250 increase was agreed upon by the committee. The men, who are also chairman of the committee. Exactly what opposition, if any, developed is not known, but the fact that the first vote was unanimous makes it appear that Mayor Hylan must have found it advisable to reverse his former opinion, given to Farquhar Morgan some days ago, to that effect that $100 would "satisfy the men." It was Controller Craig's view that the $250 should be adopted "as a matter of simple justice."

Still Behind Other Cities

Although the increase adopted by the committee yesterday will make New York firemen of the first grade the highest paid in the country, it will still leave the salaries of second grade men below the $1,000 paid by Atlantic City. Third grade men will still receive less than men of the same grade in Atlantic City, Holyoke, Mass., and Chicago, each of which cities pays $1,500 or more.

The investigations into the condition of the men made by The Tribune, demonstrated that 60 per cent of the firemen were in the hands of loan sharks and that larger numbers of the men of both departments had been hounded for years.

The increase in living costs, notwithstanding the new equipment, which the men must provide for themselves, was emphasized, and the fact that the men of both services are compelled to live in the city within the limits of New York City, which makes them particularly susceptible victims of rent profiteering, was another argument.

Gave Vacation to Drive

Morgan and Guinness, aided by O'Brien, have worked unceasingly in their spare time to promote the cause. Guinness devoted his entire fourteen days vacation to organizing the salary drive and all of Morgan's time off duty has been given to the same cause.

Neither president counteracted any task of strike and both repeatedly affirmed their position that loyalty to the city interests was the first duty of both departments and their members.

The increases authorized by the committee for other city employees are along the lines suggested by the civil service forum, with slight reductions. Francis J. Hall, president of the forum, which include in its activities every department of the city's organization, expressed his personal gratification at a result of the meeting.

The Civil Service Forum, which is an organization of all city employees, and included the police and firemen's requests in its petition to the board, asked for a 25 per cent increase for city employees whose salaries were less than $1,200 a year. The committee's recommendation is for 20 per cent. For those from $1,200 to $2,000 the forum requested a 30 per cent increase, and the committee recommended 15 per cent up to $1,000. The other recommendations of the committee, for a 10 per cent increase for those between $1,001 and $2,000, is in line with the request made by the forum.

Executor of Anna Held's Estate Asks Settlement

Residue of $175,550 Ready for Actress's Daughter, San Francisco Says

Charles T. Hannon, of San Francisco, yesterday filed an application in the Surrogate's Court asking that the account of his stewardship as executor of the estate of the late Anna Held be judicially settled and his duties as executor be closed. This action followed an application by creditors for a compulsory accounting.

According to the accounting filed by Mr. Hannon, the estate of the actress totaled $785,000, of which the sum of $18,000 represented the value of diamonds and jewelry. All of the latter, Mr. Hannon says in his accounting, were disposed of by sale at advantageous prices. As an instance of this, he says, a pearl necklace that was appraised at $10,000 was sold for $25,000, and a diamond bracelet appraised at $15,000 sold for $19,150.

Mr. Hannon, in the accounting, points out that after all bills have been paid and the Surrogate approves the residue of the estate, amounting to $175,550, will be paid to Liane Carrera, daughter of Miss Held, whose address is given as the Hotel Savoy, Fifty-ninth Street and Fifth Avenue.

Many Enlist in Army

One hundred and twenty-five men applied for enlistment in the army yesterday in the New York district. Sixty-nine passed the physical examination and were accepted. Nineteen of those accepted were admitted to the Motor Transport Corps. The infantry came next with fourteen.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Long Island City Tenants Demand Agent's Scalp

Sound of Rioting Follows Meeting of Profiteering Committee to End Dispute

The Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering transferred its activities to Long Island City last night. There it foregathered at Borough Hall, and started to administer justice. Ten minutes later the familiar sound of rioting emanated from the building.

One hundred men and women, tenants in 100, 102, 104, 106 and 170 Kott Avenue, appeared as complainants against J. P. Sloane, real estate agent, who, they said, had raised the rent $3 an apartment. Attempts of James J. O'Brien, chairman of the meeting, to suggest a compromise, brought their wrath upon his head. The outraged tenants did not want a compromise. They demanded his surrender. They also announced that they wanted Mr. Sloane's scalp and were making earnest efforts to get it when some one shouted that the police reserves were coming.

When the rioting police arrived, the Mayor's committee and Mr. Sloane were all that remained of the meeting. The tenants had returned to their homes where they announced they intended to stay until they were dispossessed.

Heirs of A. H. Green Are Given Control Of His Large Estate

Surrogate Praises Trustees Who Report Larger Sum Than That Bequeathed by "Father of Greater N. Y."

Andrew H. Green, who was largely responsible as a reform Controller of the city for the breaking up of the Tweed ring and was generally regarded as the chief creator of Central Park and as the "Father of Greater New York," died in 1903. By his will he left a large trust estate for the benefit of various relatives during the lives of his two brothers living at his death.

Recently Martin Green, of Worcester, Mass., the survivor of these brothers, died, and yesterday Surrogate Fowler signed the decree presented by Sackett, Chapman & Stevens, attorneys for the estate, settling the final accounts of the trustees.

The accounts upon which this decree was based and the other records of the Surrogate's courts disclose interesting facts respecting the estate. Mr. Green, like his law partner, Samuel J. Widen, was never married, and his will disposed of his estate, amounting to several millions, chiefly for the benefit of his brothers and their children.

Mr. Green's will gave to his four nephews, Timothy Ruggles Green, of Worcester, Mass.; William O. Green, of Chicago; Samuel M. Green, of Springfield, Mass.; and Dr. Nathan W. Green, of New York. The amount of the principal of this trust fund was shown by the accounting to amount now to $2,492,124.24, a sum considerably in excess of its valuation at the time of Mr. Green's death.

The records show that after distributing to the beneficiaries a net income of about 5 per cent since 1903 and the payment of commissions and all legal and other expenses, the principal of the trust to be distributed was substantially larger than when received by the trustees. There was a loss upon a single investment made by them. A similar showing upon one of their previous accountings called out from the Surrogate the comment that it was one of the best managed estates that had come under his official observation.

Mr. Green was a conservative investor, and the trustees availed themselves of a provision of his will which authorized them to continue these investments, even though they were not within the ordinary lines of trust securities. Guaranteed mortgages formed a large part of the principal fund upon the accounting.

The members of the Green family gave $10,000 to the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society, of which Andrew H. Green was the founder. They also turned over to the New York Historical Society the gold medal presented to Mr. Green at the New York City Hall in recognition of his public services in the creation of the greater New York City.

The Green Hill estate, the family ancestral property at Worcester, Mass., which Andrew H. Green owned and made his summer home, was shortly after his death presented by his heirs to that city for a park. Mr. Green was killed in November, 1903, by an insane negro who mistook him for another person. He was then eighty-three years old.

East Side Poultry Dealer Defends Combination

Denies It Was to Eliminate Competition and Keep Up Retail Prices

Louis Werner, president of the East Side Poultry Corporation, an organization under investigation by the District Attorney's office, was examined yesterday by Jacob Goldstein, Assistant District Attorney, assigned to inquire into complaints by East Side retailers that the corporation had forced increases in the price of live poultry.

Werner told how the East Side corporation was conceived last summer and how he assumed duties as president of the combine, which, according to Goldstein, has closed five of fifteen East Side wholesale poultry establishments.

He denied, according to Goldstein, that the pool of poultry wholesalers had been formed to eliminate competition, declaring that its sole object was the cutting down of prices by combination. The Assistant District Attorney, however, declared that his information indicated that the formation of the combine had resulted in an increase of expenses.

Werner was indicted three years ago in connection with the poultry trust prosecutions by District Attorney Swann. The indictment was later dismissed. Werner told Goldstein that the jump in poultry prices was due to higher charges being exacted by the commission merchants.

Goldstein said that he had been informed that while the wholesalers had raised prices 4 to 5 cents a pound to the retailers, the latter had jumped prices to the consumer recently from 8 to 11 cents. The investigation has been adjourned until Friday because of the Jewish holiday season.

Jews Resent Charge They Need Americanization

Bravery of Hebrew Soldiers and Liberty Bond Purchasers Cited at Meeting

Jews met yesterday at the Hebrew National Orphan House, 52 St Marks Place, to protest against statements attributed to Bishop Thomas Garland and the Rev. John L. Zacker at the Episcopal Church convention that Jews in this country needed Americanizing. Those at the meeting spurned the suggestion said to have been made at the convention that $1,000,000 should be devoted to Americanizing Jews.

"Before I refute the gratuitous charge that Jews as a race are in need of Americanizing," said Leo Lerner, president of the orphan house, "let me say that the sum dedicated to this purpose by the Episcopal Church, outside of its own flock, will be flagrantly wasted. It would appear, however, that these clergymen, unlike their fine conferees, Dr. Jowett, are living in a by-gone age, for they do not seem to have read the casualty lists in the world war. They appear to be in total ignorance of the fact that the Jews contributed, pro rata, more liberally than any other single race to the Liberty Loan and other drives; that every company commander who came in contact with Jewish soldiers at the front has nothing but the highest praise for their fighting qualities, their spirit and morale."

Hylan Warns Prall City Club May Try To Have Him Ousted

Mayor Writes Education Board President, Attacking Ettinger and Bringing Up Gary School Argument

Mayor Hylan yesterday launched another epistolary attack on Superintendent William L. Ettinger, of the Board of Education. In a letter, addressed to Anning S. Prall, president of the board, the Mayor also took a fling at the City Club, rehearsing some of his old charges against that organization, and adding it would "probably attempt to have you removed."

The Mayor did not state his grounds for believing that an attempt was being made to remove President Prall. The letter follows, in part:

"The City Club is controlled by those in sympathy with the Wall Street and public utility interests, and has from time to time preferred charges against public officials to have them removed from office. Superintendent Ettinger is a subordinate of the Board of Education, but he wants to run the Board of Education and objects to the investigation of the finances of the educational department. This is the same Ettinger who refused to permit the Commissioner of Accounts to investigate the finances of the educational system."

"The City Club in taking up Ettinger's case will probably attempt to have him removed. That is the method of the high-class reform organizations resort to to frighten public officials. All methods of propaganda will be resorted to to stop your investigation of the finances of the Educational Department."

The Mayor also added: "The City Club favors the Gary system, which fits the child for the mill and the factory only. He told President Prall not to be diverted from his investigation into the $44,000,000 provided for educational purposes."

Mineola Track Trotting Record for Mile Broken

Charles Weiland's Klio Sets New Two-Year-Old Mark at 2:15 3-4

MINEOLA, L. I., Sept. 24.—Trotting events were numerous to-day at the Mineola Fair, those which were to have taken place yesterday having been postponed on account of the rain. One record was broken on the half-mile track and another equaled.

In the 2:08 class pace John Lawrence won the event in a straight heats driving Lizzi March. He tried in vain in the second and third heats to win the extra prize money offered for lowering the time record, but succeeded in equalling it. The other two entries were never serious contenders, Mittie Redworth easily defeating The Beaver for the place.

The two-year-olds brought several good fields to the wire. Charles Weiland's Klio, driven by S. S. Post, established a two-year-old track record by making the last mile in 2:15 3-4. Little Ruth, by Glen Star, owned and driven by H. B. Clark, won a clever race and negotiations for her purchase by F. B. Jordan, of Brooklyn, were reported to be under way soon after the finish.

Twenty-five classes were judged in the show ring, about half of them being breeders' classes that were disposed of in the morning. There were only three entries in the runabout class. Edward Rowland won this event with Admiral Cord. Several children's classes excited much interest. The ponies' class with riders less than twelve years old was won by Corinne Poth on Bounce.

The novice saddle class, women to ride, was won by Charlotte Butler, with her showy mare, Johanna, ridden by Miss Edith Beaver Webb. Mrs. Jessie Van Kline rode Pal o' Mine, who was placed second.

In the class for green or qualified hunters, performance over fences only to count, Miss Elizabeth S. Thompson, with Handy Boy, was awarded the blue ribbon. John S. Phipps, Jr., rode Miss Michelle S. Newbury, riding Arrow, gave the crowd a heart flutter when she put her mount at the in and out. The first time he refused and she spun on his neck, then when he wheeled she was thrown but landed on her feet.

Army Man Called Deceiver

Camp Romance Results in Suit for $10,000 Damages

Miss Jewell A. Shell, of Bartonsville, Ill., yesterday named Captain William C. Anderson, U. S. A., now on the reserve list, as defendant in a suit for $10,000, which she started in the Supreme Court. Captain Anderson was stationed at Camp Herring, near Peoria, Ill., from the beginning of the war until June, 1918, when he was ordered to France as an ordnance officer.

According to the complaint Captain Anderson met Miss Shell while he was at Camp Herring and called on her at the home of her parents at Bartonsville. She says he urged her to marry him, which she consented to do May 18, 1918.

Captain Anderson was ordered to France, and she says in her complaint that when his letters ceased she then wrote to the War Department for information and found that he was a married man living with his wife in Brooklyn.

The Super-Six Motor Gives Hudson Its Endurance

It Is a Patented Principle Invented by Hudson Which Reduces Vibration and Adds 72% to Motor Power

Hudson records for endurance stand unmatched because of its exclusively used and patented Super-Six motor.

That same principle is also responsible for Hudson being the largest selling fine car in the world.

No other car can have the Super-Six motor without Hudson's consent, because Hudson invented and patented it.

It Prevents Motor Self-Destruction

Motor vibration is minimized by the Super-Six patented principle. It accounts in part for Hudson's smooth riding and its endurance.

It also increases the useful power of the motor by 72%. The power that is absorbed within the motor in vibration, is through the Super-Six principle, made available for propelling the car.

Thus with a comparatively small motor, the Hudson Super-Six has established endurance, speed and mountain climbing records never equalled by any other stock car.

Just See What It Has Done

A Hudson Super-Six stock car three years ago officially established the fastest time for one hour and for 100 miles. A stock chassis made the fastest mile at the rate of 102 1/2 miles an hour. Those records stand unmatched.

The same stock chassis was driven by one man 1819 miles in 24 hours.

The Super-Six has contested on the speedway and in the most famous road races with specially built racing cars. Changes were made to fit it for racing, but the principle by which vibration is minimized in every Hudson accounts for its winning in more championship events than any car raced at the time.

Because of its endurance, Hudsons are entered and make notable showings in every important automobile race. They belong to race drivers whose only interest is in a car that will win prizes. We have nothing to do with their entries. They for the most part, buy standard Hudson Super-Six cars and make such changes in them as they believe will best fit them for racing.

You, Too, Want That Endurance

Super-Six tests were made not so much with the idea of winning records as to establish the limits of its endurance.

Each harder test was a step up in the trials, thinking it would show just how far the Super-Six could be pushed before tearing itself to pieces. But no test has yet proved that. Not even did the trans-continental run from San Francisco to New York develop its endurance limits. In fact, the seven passenger touring car although having made the run in 14 hours less time than any car before or since has made it, was turned back and completed the round trip in 10 days and 21 hours.

But a thing those tests did help in doing was to bring the Hudson up to the standard of the Super-Six motor.

Such a motor required better car design, better axles, better qualities and higher standards than were needed with the usual type. It resulted, finally, in the present Hudson Super-Six.

60,000 Owners Also Helped

Present models also show how owners of 60,000 earlier models have helped develop the Hudson.

There are close to 10,000 of the present type now in service. Note how, though not materially different, they reflect the fitness and smoothness that is possible through such experience.

It explains why Hudsons have been for four years the largest selling fine car.

It shows why it is important to reserve your Hudson in advance of your actual need for it. Thousands of buyers have waited months to get the Hudson of their choice.

THE STEPCHILD OF CHANCE

THIS is a true story of three men whose carefully-thought-out plans for the disposition of their money and property after death were completely and expensively changed.

We are not using their names, but all the facts have been taken from the Surrogate's records of New York County.

I

A prominent Publisher died on June 14, 1918. By his will he had appointed a New York Capitalist as an executor.

II

This Capitalist was never able to qualify as the Publisher's executor because the Capitalist died just before the Publisher died.

III

The Capitalist had appointed a prominent Lawyer as an executor of his estate.

IV

The Lawyer died on the 5th day of July, 1918, and was therefore never able to qualify as an executor of the Capitalist.

V

The Lawyer had appointed a prominent Banker as an executor of his estate.

VI

This Banker died on the 15th day of December, 1918, and was therefore unable to carry out his duties as executor of the Lawyer.

VII

Through this chain of circumstances no one of these men was ever able to complete his work as executor of the friend who had appointed him.

VIII

The combined estates of the Publisher, the Capitalist and the Lawyer amounted to approximately $75,000,000.

IX

The lesson of this true story is to be found in the unwisdom of gambling with death by appointing individuals only, as your executors and trustees.

X

The Federal Reserve Act now makes possible the selection of a national bank of high standing and long experience.

XI

The appointment of a national bank as executor or co-executor in conjunction with individuals in whom you repose the utmost confidence, is becoming increasingly popular.

XII

It is better qualified than an individual to assume the duties of executor or trustee under wills.

XIII

The American Exchange National Bank is fully qualified to act in these capacities.

XIV

Do your present or contemplated plans involve the possible defeat of your most cherished purposes?

XV

We shall be glad to discuss this or related subjects with you.
